Committee is developing new proposal for fall break

by Cathy Crist

A new fall break proposal is being developed by the Student Senate Academic Affairs committee following a discussion at the Faculty Senate meeting Tuesday.

This new proposal would mean giving the students a Friday off from classes instead of closing the school for the Monday of Columbus Day weekend.

Russ Robb, chairman of the Academic Affairs committee, said the Faculty Senate will be voting on this new proposed fall break at their Tuesday meeting.

"After the last meeting, I think the Faculty Senate seemed quite willing to accept the proposal," Robb said. "I think we will have the fall break by next semester. Things look quite favorable."

The policy currently being discussed would mean a Friday off during either the second or third weekend in October. It would not be a day off for civil service workers, as it is not a legal holiday, Robb said.

This change in the fall break proposal was made by Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin, and seemed logical, Robb said.

Marvin discussed the proposal with student leaders and administrators at a workshop Wednesday.

The Academic Affairs committee investigated fall breaks at other schools. Illinois State University is currently the only Illinois state school that has a fall break. Indiana State University and several private schools have fall breaks.

Robb said a research study was done at Indiana State to investigate the positive and negative aspects of a fall break.

The study revealed that students feel more pressured in the fall semester than in the spring, and that a fall break would alleviate some of the pressure.

The next steps in passing the proposal include a vote by the Faculty Senate, approval from Ronald Wohlstein, chairman of the Council of Academic Affairs, and finally Marvin's signature and approval.

"We feel there is a real need for a fall break. The fall semester is long, and there are no breaks between Labor Day and Thanksgiving," Robb said.

A survey was done of 300 Eastern students in the fall of 1979. The survey results show that 62 percent favored a three-day break, 33 percent favored a four-day break, and 3 percent did not want a break.

The committee looked into some of the problems that might result because of the break. The biggest problem would be with science labs. A solution is currently being investigated.

Balancing act

Freshman Betsy Barbieri, left, and sophomore Mark Campbell, right, participate in a teeter-totter marathon for the Heart Fund. Alpha Phi sorority and East Hall are co-sponsoring the event, which will continue until 4 p.m. Friday. In the center are Jefferson School sixth graders Jeremy Grigg and Jeremy Anderson.

New union could form for faculty

by Cathy Crist

A new faculty union, the University Professionals of Illinois, may be formed following voting this week by members of the American Federation of Teacher's local 3500 and the faculty unions in the Board of Regents system.

Eastern faculty are represented by the AFT local 3500, along with the faculty at Chicago State, Governors State, Northeastern Illinois and Western Illinois universities.

"We're proposing to alter our local union by merging with the BOR unions to form a new local union, the University Professionals of Illinois," Carol Elder, president of Eastern's AFT chapter said.

Schools in the Board of Regents are Illinois State Northern Illinois and Sangamon State Universities.

Elder said a merge of the unions would increase strength and visibility in the legislature. Lobbying would be done to represent even more of the state universities, and would give the union more power.

A combined union would also enable the BOR unions to push harder for the right to bargain a contract, and could increase union membership on all the campuses.

Voting on the merger was done through campus mail because previous AFT voting sessions have not had strong membership turnouts, Elder said.

Balloting will end at 4 p.m. Friday.

"I expect a good response because we did send the ballots out this way," Elder said.

Union chapters at the other BOG and BOR schools have also been voting this week. A two-thirds majority is needed to approve the merging proposal, Elder added.

Although the BOR unions cannot negotiate for contracts as the BOG schools do, they will not be affected by the AFT negotiated contracts, Elder said.

"If the proposed merge is approved, we will have a lot of work before us. We will have to ask for funds from the AFLCIO and the Illinois Federation of Teachers unions to help us get started," Elder said.

Lair line closes Tuesday for renovations

by Cathy Crist

Beginning Tuesday, the University Union Panther Lair will undergo a number of changes as part of renovations which include bringing the Professional Food Management Corporation into the Union.

The current serving line will be closed for approximately eight days, while a temporary serving line will be set up on the north end of the restaurant to accommodate the Lair's business, Union Area Head Bill Clark said Thursday.

Gary Bassett, director of the Union food services, said the standard line will be closed for this short time period to allow the PFM company to make some rearranging and redecorating changes in the Lair.

He said when the regular food services area of the Lair reopens the week of Oct. 13 under the direction of PFM, students will notice several improvements.

"The biggest change will be the different set up and faster service. I think it will be a lot better," Bassett said.

Clark said, "Some of the immediate changes that will be seen in the Lair include an old-fashioned butcher block meat counter to serve as the deli."

Other new items which will be added to the Lair after the remodeling period are a pastry case for bakery items, a Mexican food shoppe and a fruit stand with decorative baskets.

Also an ice cream shop with a glassed-in display case, a salad bar, a hot cart to include soup and chilli, a separate beverage counter and different menu items.

Because they will be closing the serving section for the remodeling, a temporary service line will be set up by the patio on the north side.

Bassett said, "We'll have many of the same basic menu items, like drinks, hot dogs and ice cream but we will be changing the menu."

Some of the changes that will be in this temporary line include a salad bar, no deep fried items and a daily entree.

"We'll be offering an interesting but restrictive menu," Clark said.

The PFM has been working closely with the Union in all areas of food service. They will completely take over the food services—the Panther Lair and the Rathskeller—by Oct. 20.

At that point, the food services staff will work for PFM instead of the university, Bassett said.

Clark said all the staff members will be evaluated after a reasonable time period. There may be some staff changes, but Clark thinks the current staff is good.

The cost of this remodeling project in the Lair is approximately $4,000 to $6,000, which includes everything from labor costs to plumbing, Clark said.

No significant price changes are foreseen, because the Lair is a service for students. "There may be some changes in quantity or quality of items, which may affect some prices," Clark added.

The next steps in the food services renovations will be in the Rathskeller, the decor of the Lair, and the old cafeteria which will be made into a recreation room.

Rep. ousted for Abscam dealings

WASHINGTON — Michael “Ozzie” Myers, convicted of accepting a bribe in the FBI’s Abscam undercover operation, was expelled from the House of Representatives Thursday, the first congressman ousted by his colleagues since the outbreak of the Civil War.

The vote to remove Myers was 376-30, easily more than two-thirds majority required.

Myers, the first congressman convicted in the Abscam case, protested the action to the end, telling House colleagues their action was tantamount to execution.

“I know what it feels like to sit on death row. As you go to the voting, keep in mind when you hit that button, that it will have the same effect of hitting the button if I were strapped into an electric chair,” Myers told House members prior to the vote.

Reports of hand-to-hand combat

BAGHDAD, Iraq — Iranian paratroopers dropped into the besieged oil port of Khorramshahr where Iranian forces were reported in hand-to-hand combat with Iraqi shock troops for control of the city, Iran claimed Thursday.

In the 11th day of the war, with Iran rejecting U.N. and Islamic peace efforts and spurning Iraq’s offer of a cease-fire, President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr claimed a string of victories and said Iraqi invaders were being pushed back.

In a broadcast to his armed forces, Bani-Sadr called on Iranians to “escalate their struggle” and announce the first use of paratroopers in the war. He said waves of Iranian jets launched attacks in support of Iranian forces battling for Khorramshahr.

Eastern is losing ground financially— Miller

by Lola Burnham

Eastern is losing ground financially, George Miller, vice president for administration and finance, said Thursday, responding to a recent study reported in the Chronicle of Higher Education.

The Minter-Bowen study of 102 public colleges found that 32 percent were losing ground financially—up 11 percent from the previous study.

Miller said Eastern's financial situation "is compounded by the fact that we started out in an underfunded position."

In January the Illinois Board of Higher Education recommended that Eastern cut about 400 students from its enrollment this fall to bring its funding up to par with other public Illinois universities.

"We are losing ground," he said. "That's the picture as I see it."

Miller said the operating area of the budget shows about a 7 percent increase in funds, but the rate of inflation quoted in the Higher Education Price Index "exceeded percentage-wise the percentage increase that we've received."

Miller blamed Eastern's problems on insufficient funding by the state legislature.

"If the legislature would appropriate an adequate amount by basing it on the previous year's HEPI, that would be helpful," he said. "That way we'd only be one year behind (the inflation rate)."

He said the university will "continue to operate and tighten the belt," but that will not solve financial problems.

He said delaying repairs such as replacing bricks or re-shingling roofs causes a "serious" problem because the delay can cause internal damage to buildings.

The study warns that some financial problems are only delayed when universities put off maintenance projects.

Miller said he could not predict when Eastern's financial outlook would improve.

"I would hope that someday the legislature would approve sufficient amounts to repair and maintain equipment and bring up salary levels," he said.

The study found that faculty pay at public colleges increased more rapidly than pay at private institutions, but not as fast as the Consumer Price Index on earnings in private industry.

"In the public sector (tax-supported institutions) salaries have increased a bit more than in private institutions, but below the rate of inflation," Miller said.

This means that the standard of living for faculty members who have retained their positions for about the past 10 years has decreased because their pay raises have not kept up with inflation, he explained.

AB should act on memo now

We believe that Eastern's Apportionment Board should show more concern when the university president has questioned their procedures.

President Daniel E. Marvin recently sent a memorandum to the Apportionment Board, a student body which determines allocation of student fee money to student organizations, questioning its fiscal responsibilities and procedures.

Student Body Financial Vice President Todd Daniels, chairman of the board, said he is "not concerned" about the memo.

Daniels said, "I don't think there is any cause for concern. I'm sure nothing is going to happen." True, nothing may happen, but that is no reason to push this memo aside.

The controversy which arose last semester over the funding of the Model United Nations and the Vehicle has caused Marvin to "give considerable thought to the proper role and direction of the Apportionment Board, its relationship to other student-faculty boards and the Student Senate and the basic purpose of the student activity fee," according to the memo.

Last spring, The AB considered halting funds to the Vehicle, but extended their funding for another year. Marvin said he believes that this action illustrates problems concerning jurisdiction over student fee money and organizations.

A subcommittee has been formed in order to make reports for Marvin. The committee, which consists of Daniels, Union Area Head Bill Clark, Student Body President Bob Glover, former AB faculty adviser and accounting and finance instructor Art Hoffman and Student Activities Director Don Cook has until the end of the fall semester to submit their reports.

However, the AB should not wait until the end of the semester to submit its report to the president.

The AB should move quickly to answer Marvin's questions and clear up any discrepancies concerning its duties. Delaying the process will only cause confusion.

We are not saying student boards should drop everything whenever the president sends them a note. But the AB should act on this matter before any further problems arise concerning student fees and activities.

Your Turn

Wants fair election

Editor:

I am quite perturbed with the election process for the Homecoming queen candidates. It seems very unfair for a dorm complex consisting of about 500 people to compete with a dorm complex consisting of about 1,700 people.

Most people usually only know the group of people which surround them every day. It would be very difficult for one person to have to get to know 1,200 other people from her dorm complex just to have a chance at election time.

I realize that it would not be easy to change the set-up, but something must be done. Perhaps each dorm building should have its own representative, and the highest percentage of voter turnout in each dorm would decide the winner.

This is no longer high school; therefore, there should be logical organization and not just modern tallying techniques.

An individual should be chosen for her personality and beauty rather than by her name and the number of her living companions.

Patty Hinz

Tired of waiting

An open letter to the Union Lobby Shop:

It is with regret that I will no longer be one of your patrons. This is particularly saddening in that I will always try to patronize a university service if given the opportunity.

It is apparent that the opportunity is not there.

While waiting in line the other day, a few others and myself were repeatedly ignored while customers who approached the counter after us were serviced first. Do you realize the wait was not only inconvenient but also unnecessary?

Having had more than four years of cashiering experience, I realize that a simple "Who's next?" or "May I help someone?" will almost always result with the customers being waited upon in the proper order.

To prove my point and to be fair, I've seen and heard some of your employees ask these questions, and we customers always referred the cashier to the person who truly was next.

However, too few of the employees ask these questions.

My time is very important to me. It seems that my business is not important to you.

Rick Creighton

Consider safety

Editor:

In the interest of student safety as well as convenience, we hope that both Eastern students and administrators will carefully reconsider the many benefits of the proposed Panther Transit.

Eastern can live without Ok'toker'fest

I am upset with the actions taken by Eastern's campus police Wednesday during the "Ok'toker'fest" celebration on the Library Quad.

Ok'toker'fest, of course, is an annual event held on campus in which students sit in the quad to smoke pot and drink alcohol.

Now, smoking pot is illegal, and so is drinking alcohol on public property. But all our campus police saw fit to do in this situation was to "note the ID's" of the alleged offenders, thereby referring them for discipline to Eastern's Judicial Board.

This is why I am upset. The campus police should not have noted the ID's of the alleged offenders. They should have arrested them.

Now, I'm sure this opinion will be condemned by some pot smokers and alcohol drinkers as archaic, narrow-minded and un-American. But who do they think they are, anyway?

I just do not understand the type of people who think they have some sort of divine right to smoke pot, drink alcohol or snort laundry detergent anywhere they please.

What's the point? This is not 1968. If people want to do that sort of thing, they should do it in private. Then policemen will not be noting their ID's and columns will not have to be written about them.

And lest people get the impression that this opinion

Personal file:

comes from a priest-like individual, let me assure you that I speak from experience.

Experience also tells me that taking certain substances into your body can be harmful after extended use. Of course, it is each person's right to discover this fact for themselves.

But I understand why the campus police and Eastern's judicial office would frown upon such activity. In fact, I would have little respect for them if they did not.

I suggest that the students who participated in Ok'toker'fest consider this point before becoming angry at anyone who questions their right to smoke and drink in public.

Finally, as I said before, smoking pot and drinking alcohol in public is illegal. Consequently, anyone who is arrogant enough to openly flaunt the law the way some people did Wednesday should expect to be arrested.

So, all you pot smokers and alcohol drinkers, if you want to continue your hobbies, go right ahead. Just stay out of the quad.

News awarded All American

by Jane Meyer

The Daily Eastern News, for the fifth consecutive semester, has received an All-American award from the Associated Collegiate Press.

The award was presented for news coverage during spring semester 1979-80. Marks of distinction were awarded to the News in coverage and content, writing and editing, physical appearance and visual communication and photography, art and use of graphics.

Judges for the contest were members of the National Scholastic Press Association and the ACP.

The News is one of two five-day publication dailies at public universities with enrollments under 10,000 to receive the award. The other award winner was The Daily Mississippian of the University of Mississippi.

The critique of the News stated, "The Eastern News does it again—an excellent training ground for your talented staff and editors. Congratulations."

Tom Hodges served as adviser of the 1979-80 News. Tom Keefe was editor for the year and Brad Patterson was the managing editor for spring semester. Both are summer Eastern graduates. Laura Fraembs, now editor in chief, held the news editor position last year.

David Reed, 1980 adviser of the paper said the award was well-deserved.

"I am very happy. I expected the spring semester News to receive the All-American rating," Reed said. "It's a fine tribute to the work of Tom Hodges in his first year as adviser. I am also proud of the quality work produced by the Eastern News staff that was less experienced than usual."

Cutback proposal may have drawbacks

by Peggy Schneider

The proposed legislative cutback amendment would minimize legislators' responsiveness, reduce minority representation in the Illinois General Assembly, and possibly cost the state more money, Rep. Harry "Babe" Woodyard, R-Chrisman, said Wednesday.

The drawbacks of the proposed legislative cutback amendment and Illinois' troubled business climate were among topics presented by Woodyard, an incumbent candidate for the state's assembly, during an appearance before a political science class Wednesday.

The proposed House cut would "reduce the representation to individuals by one-half rather than one-third", Woodyard said. "If a constituent has a problem now, he has four people he can call in Springfield. If the legislature is cut back, there will only be two people—a representative and a senator from each district that he can call," Woodyard said.

"There will be a greater loss of representation than it looks on the surface," he said.

The amendment, which will be on the ballot for voters to decide on Nov. 4, is designed to cut the size of the Illinois legislature by one-third.

Woodyard believes the amendment is "retaliation (from the voters) for the pay raise the legislature voted itself in a lame-duck session. Out of that resentment came the reduction amendment."

The purposes of the amendment are to reduce the cost of the legislature and to reduce the number of bills introduced, Woodyard said.

He cited the Massachusetts' state legislature, which reduced its size by one-third in 1979, as an example of a cutback which did not really work.

The reduction cost the state $5 million more than the previous year, because the legislators voted for pay raises and larger staffs, he said.

In addition, the number of bills increased by 550 over the previous year, Woodyard said.

The reduction of the Massachusetts' legislature cut minority representation also, Woodyard said.

Woodyard also addressed the dwindling business climate in Illinois.

In the past five years, 135,000 jobs "have been lost" because businesses have located elsewhere, Woodyard said.

"The Illinois legislature must have the vision to turn the trend around by making statutory changes in workman's compensation, unemployment compensation and corporate tax laws," Woodyard said.

"Businesses can and do move across state lines, saving almost double," he said.

"We must have a compromise between labor and business so business can live with it," Woodyard said.

Woodyard answered questions from the 200 students after his talk.

Upcoming competition stresses fun

by Sarah Coyle

Taking a cue from the popular movie "The Empire Strikes Back," the theme for the annual Almost Anything Goes this year is "Anything Goes Strikes Back."

Competition will be Oct. 11 and 12, Becky Keck, publicity chairman, said.

The event is sponsored by the Residence Hall Association, the Housing Office and the Almost Anything Goes Committee, Keck said.

Each residence hall will have an A and B team which will participate in all kinds of outrageous games, Keck said. Points will be awarded for the different places in each event and the teams with the most points on Saturday will advance to the finals on Sunday, she added.

"This year we are trying something new. There's going to be a guest team on Sunday from the dark side," Keck said.

The A teams will play at 9 a.m. Saturday and the B teams begin competition at 1:30 p.m., Keck said. The winners of the A teams and the B teams will compete in the finals held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

Keck said some of the game to be played this year will include C3PO's Dilemma, Artoo-Detoo Schuffel, Imperial Death March, Chewbacca at Bat and Darth Vader's Revenge, Keck said.

"What we really want to stress is fun. We're trying to get as many people out to watch," she added.

BOG looks to universities' future

by Laura Rzepka

The Board of Governors recently reaffirmed its concern to improve its universities' future enrollments, state appropriations, computer services and academics, by conducting a system-wide planning study.

Concerning the enrollment plans, the BOG is at the "threshold on this subject," Tom Layzell, BOG deputy director for administration and fiscal affairs, said Thursday.

In last month's BOG report, BOG Executive Director Donald Walters said "the major planning issue facing institutions of higher education is the possibility of severe enrollment decline.

"While the projection of decline in enrollments is not universally accepted, the possibility cannot be ignored," Walters said.

Projections indicate that by the 1990s there will be 30 percent fewer high school graduates than in 1979, Layzell said.

Layzell and Robert Pringle, BOG deputy executive director for academic affairs, met with the vice presidents of each university to discuss "what if" questions concerning enrollment, Layzell said.

"We need to start developing a contingency plan to see what the implication (of declining enrollments) will be," Layzell said.

With the possibility of declining enrollments the BOG has also addressed itself to the increasing difficulty in acquiring state appropriations, he said.

"We must recognize that new state appropriations are going to be increasingly difficult to acquire," Walters said in his report.

"People think our market is shrinking," Layzell said, "why pump more money into it?"

Layzell said the state appropriations committee is probably looking at higher education and saying, "why should we appropriate new money for institutions with declining enrollments.

"There will be tougher competition for appropriations. We'll need a good case for the money," he added.

During the last two or three sessions of the General Assembly, the state appropriations committee has been critical of the BOG's cost of administration and physical plant operations, Layzell said.

"The costs are relatively higher than those in other systems," he added.

The BOG is trying to refine the cost information because it cannot be legitimately compared at face value with other systems, Layzell said.

Besides declining enrollments and difficulties in obtaining appropriations, the systemwide task force is reviewing the needs for computer services and the planning process used by each university.

"Computers are a major feature of our life," Layzell said. "We decided it was important to have a separate look at the computers," he added.

The task force is concerned with the usefulness of the existing hardware and the possibility of acquiring more efficient computers," Layzell said.

Layzell said he does not know the status of the academic plans but he said they are still in the process of being completed.

The final area the systemwide task force will study is academic plans.

The study results will include mission statements and existing and new program plans for all BOG universities, he said.

WELH aims for more ears

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

Campus radio station WELH has undergone a few changes in its format style this year in an effort to increase its popularity with students and appeal to a wider variety of musical tastes.

Station Manager Greg Moore, a senior, said the board members of WELH have decided to operate later into the evening because that seems to be a popular listening time.

The station operates from 9 a.m. until 2 a.m. Monday through Friday and from noon until midnight on weekends.

"Eventually we would like to broadcast 24 hours on weekends and extend our hours through the week also," Moore said.

He said an effort to reach off-campus students is being looked into. He said the plan would be to work with Liberty Cable to enable broadcasting to homes with cable television.

WELH is a carrier current station and now can only be received in the residence halls and the University Union.

He said the cable idea is still in the planning stages, but the station has the cooperation of the cable company. "If it isn't too costly we may be broadcasting to off-campus residents this year."

Another change has been in the musical selections of the station. Music Director Stacy Shaw said a larger variety of music is being offered.

"We have a jazz and blues show for two hours every Saturday night that has never been done before," she said.

Other special programs include a three-hour "oldie" show on Thursdays, a mid-night snack show where a different album is played from 11 p.m. until midnight Monday through Friday and a rock trivia item announced about three times a day.

Shaw said the station is trying to present "something for everybody." She said requests are appreciated and they play them as soon as they can fit them in.

The station receives more than 20 requests a day with most of the requests coming between 7 p.m. and midnight.

"Every Sunday we host 'EIU's Top-30' which is a collection of the most popular requests of the week," she said. "We have had more requests than ever this year."

Eric Duchinsky, public relations director for the station, said there seems to be a lot of student input, "but we would like to see much more."

He said a new logo for the station is under consideration and a contest to develop a slogan for WELH may begin next week.

"We want the students to know who we are and have them participate in the station," he said.

A weekly newsletter with advertisements, information about the station and a list of the music played will be delivered to students in residence halls soon, Duchinsky said.

Moore said the newsletter would also be a more professional way of sending the record companies a list of the songs and albums that are played.

Glover favors another health service doctor

by Lori Waddell

Student Body President Bob Glover said he would be in favor of hiring a fourth doctor to the staff of the Health Service although the matter has yet to be discussed before the Health Service board.

Dr. Jerry Heath, Health Service director, said he has not yet been contacted yet on the matter by Glover, but would not oppose the hiring of an additional physician.

"There hasn't been anything definite on this at all," Heath said "but we've (the health board) been discussing the possibility for the past 25 years."

The benefits of hiring another physician would be advantageous to all students, Heath said.

The hiring of another doctor to the Health Service staff would result in a shorter waiting period for students to see a physician and would also allow more student to be treated.

"The matter of hiring another doctor has to be taken up with the health board itself," Glover said before any further action can be taken on the matter.

The Health Service has not met to discuss adding a new physician to the staff, Heath said.

The Health Service treats about 250 to 300 students each day during the months of October through February—its busiest time, Heath said.

Heath said a number of students come to Health Service who do not need to see a doctor and could treat themselves.

In trying to improve the Health Service an appointment scheduling system was tested over the summer, but was not totally successful, Heath said.

It will not be continued this fall because of cancellations and the large percentage of walk-in patients, Heath said.

"We try the best we can to treat every student who comes in," Heath said.

The Health Service currently has three physicians, five nurses, a pharmacist and three technicians to help in the diagnosing and treating of students.

Recitals

Flutist Cindy Sarver and trumpeter Steve Northup will present their senior recital at 2 p.m. Friday in Dvorak Concert Hall.

Sarver will be performing a flute solo by Ferroud and a Vinci sonata, Jan Faires of the music department said. The sonata will be accompanied by bassoonist Bernard Borah and pianist Pam Clark, Faires said. Sarver will also perform a Reicha flute quartet with Kim Boisso, Vicky Welsh and Joanne Findley, Faires said.

Northup will perform selections by Busser and Hering. He will be accompanied by pianist Tony Kelley, Faires said. Northup will also perform a Collier Jone's brass quintet with David Hickox, Christine Howell, Mike Ruckman and Terri Huff, she said.

Saturday parking curbed

Due to the Homecoming parade on Saturday, no parking will be available on streets along the parade route, Maurice Johnson, Charleston chief of police, said Thursday.

Those areas where parking is restricted during the parade are Sixth Street from Lincoln Avenue to Monroe Street, Seventh Street from Monroe to Lincoln, Monroe from Sixth to Seventh streets and Jackson Street from Sixth and Seventh streets.

Johnson said any vehicles parked on these streets will be towed away at the owner's expense after 4 a.m. Saturday.

The following streets will be closed to through traffic and used for parade formation from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Saturday:

Division Street from Pierce Street south to Lincoln, First Street from Lincoln north to Polk Street, Second Street from Lincoln north to Polk Street, Pierce from Division east to Third Street, and from Buchanan Street from Second and east to Third.

Rockome's Horse Farming Days give meaning to 'horsepower'

by Keith Palmgren

Crafts, special foods and old farming tasks performed by horses will be featured this weekend at the 11th annual Horse Farming Days at Rockome Gardens in Arcola.

The festival began last weekend and will continue from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, ending next weekend, Lessa Willis, public relations director at the Gardens said.

Horse Farming Days began with the idea of showing people how things were done in the past, Willis said. The festival will re-enact what farming tasks and field activities were like prior to the 1920's, she said.

Some of the farming tasks that will be demonstrated include disking and plowing performed by teams of six Belgium Draft horses.

Horse power will also be used in operating silage cutters, buzzsaws, threshing machines and water pumps.

Willis said many different types of crafts including blacksmithing, harness making, rug weaving, rug hooking, chair caning and tole painting will also be presented at the festival.

Two contests will also be presented where the public can try their luck and win ribbons. Willis said "plow walking" and corn shucking contests will be held.

Admission to the festival is $4 for adults, $2.75 for children ages 4-12 and free for children under four.

Willis said the admission price includes all the horse farming activities and the gardens and shops, plus entrance into the "haunted barn," the antique museum and an Amish house set up for the public to see.

To get to Rockome Gardens take I-57 north to Arcola. Get off at Arcola, take Route 133 west and follow the signs about five miles.

Southern California hit by heavy smog

by the Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—Under a tea-colored blanket of smog brewed by a burning sun and pollution, people wept and wheezed Thursday as eye-stinging smog kept its choke hold on Southern California a third straight day.

Temperatures were a little cooler Thursday after the hottest Oct. 1 in 74 years, and the smog was expected to ease as fog and low clouds raised the inversion layer holding polluted air over the region.

However, the Air Quality Management District predicted the smog would continue Friday and suggested motorists stay home this weekend.

"This has been the worst two weeks for as long as I can remember," said John Strycula, coach of the Citrus Community College football team in the San Gabriel Valley suburb of Azusa, one of the areas hardest hit by smog.

"We go more for mental preparation than physical exertion at times like these," he said. "There's no heavy running or anything like that."

"I just pray I don't run out of ice cream like I did last Friday," said Tony Naranjo, manager of the Friendly Freeze ice cream stand in Azusa.

Usually only a Southern California phenomenon, the smog spread its brown pallor to the San Francisco area on Wednesday and caused the first Bay Area smog alert since Oct. 2, 1978. San Jose choked on its worst smog in two years as temperatures jumped to 97, the highest ever for the date. Physical education activities were canceled in Santa Clara County schools.

A survey of hospitals Thursday showed few patients were checking in with respiratory complaints resulting from the smog, but Los Angeles County Health Department spokesman Tony Tripi warned: "It may be that smog is killing us by inches."

"You may not see anything dramatic in the way of numbers, but it doesn't mean the damage isn't being done."

The four-county Southern California smog zone had its heaviest smog since 1974 Wednesday when a state Air Resources Board monitor picked up an hourly average ozone reading of 0.49 parts per million of air in a station at Glendora, 20 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.

Inspectors from the AQMD cited 38 businesses for alleged violation of cutbacks ordered during a second-stage alert, said agency spokesman Jeff Schenkel.

Wednesday's high of 97 in Los Angeles was the hottest since 1905. It was 109 in Pomona, where the Los Angeles County Fair struggled along under brown skies. The fair infirmary was busier than usual with complaints of heat and headaches.

Smog occurs when sunlight causes a chemical reaction between nitrogen dioxide, a major part of auto exhausts, and hydrocarbons, which come from evaporated gasoline and other sources.

Gridders vie to continue dominance of ISU

by Dave Claypool

Eastern's gridders will hope to continue their dominance over Illinois State when they square off with the Redbirds at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at O'Brien Stadium.

In 1978 the Panthers thrashed ISU 42-7 in front of an Eastern homecoming crowd. Last year Eastern shut out ISU 24-0 as Poke Cobb set an NCAA Division II career rushing record of 4986 yards by running for 161.

"ISU is a lot better than the team we played the past couple years," Panther head coach Darrell Mudra said. "I think it's pretty much the same team but they're a year or two older and that experience is probably the single most factor."

But while the Redbirds have 14 upper classmen in their starting line up who provide the experience Mudra mentioned, ISU's starting roster still contains seven sophomores, including starting quarterback Steve Gumble.

Gumble enjoyed his best day yet last Saturday, connecting on 12 of 21 passes for 198 yards and two touchdowns.

Despite Gumble's fine showing, the Redbirds were unable to stop Southeast Louisiana in the final 21 seconds of the game and dropped a heartbreaker 28-21.

"Our record is a little disappointing at this point but we've played four Eastern defensive tackle Pete Catan (83) recovers a fumble by Northeast Missouri State's Jeff Oakley (45) in the Panthers' 41-7 victory over the Bulldogs Saturday.

pretty tough teams," ISU head coach Charlie Crowdey said. "Last weeks was really disappointing. Losing to anyone in the last 21 seconds hurts, especially after playing so well throughout the game. But our kids still have their heads up."

And very well they should.

Through its first four games, ISU has an average offensive production of 312 yards per game—one yard more than Eastern's average.

And Panther Defensive Coordinator Chuck Dickerson says ISU "runs a basic offense, one that concentrates on ball control and a minimum of errors. They have a multi-offense, but it appears on film that they have gotten away from the option some in recent games."

The prime ball carrier for ISU's control offense is senior running back Bill Fenn.

Fenn needs just seven yards to move into the No. 3 position on ISU's all-time rushing list, and through his first four games has rushed for 125 yards in 41 carries.

"Fenn is an excellent, consistent runner," Dickerson said. "Not your break-away-type back, but one that follows blocks well and will get you yardage when needed."

Although Fenn is the consistent back for the Redbirds, freshman Kevin Jones is ISU's leading ground gainer.

Thus far, Jones has gained 196 yards in 42 carries for a 4.7 average.

"Jones is the speedster," Dickerson said. "He can really get it."

Leading the Eastern defense in trying to stop the talented Redbird backfield will be Mid-Continent Conference "Defensive 'Player of the Week'" Don Pittman.

Pittman was responsible for a blocked punt and two interceptions in Eastern's 41-7 win over Northeast Missouri State last Saturday. The first interception and the blocked punt resulted in Eastern's first two scores of the contest.

Along with Pittman in the Panther defensive corps will be Eastern's leading tackler, Ira Jefferson.

Jefferson has had 39 tackles, including 30 solo's while forcing three fumbles.

While the Redbird backfield is a talented one, Crowdey said the ISU defensive secondary is its strongest asset.

"Our strength lies in our secondary," the coach said. "And since Eastern has an extremely fine passing game, it should be interesting when the ball goes in the air."

Crowdey added, "The main reason for their (Eastern's) good passing game, I think, is Scott McGhee. He's as fine a receiver as they come."

McGhee's statistics so far this young season support Crowdey's claim.

Sheeran places third in marathon

by Paul Black

Eastern's Joe Sheeran, a four-time All-American cross-country runner, finished third in America's Marathon last weekend in Chicago.

The third-place finish was quite an accomplishment for Sheeran, as over 7000 runners started the 26.3 mile course. Sheeran's time of two hours and 17 minutes gave the Eastern runner an average clocking of 5:18 per mile.

Sheeran said his strategy was to keep up near the front of the pack.

"I went out early in the race and tried to stay up with the leaders. For the first 12 miles I was able to keep pace," Sheeran said.

But Sheeran said he may have been better off in the long run to lay back in the pack.

"I'm not a very good hot weather runner, so I had to stop and take water breaks. I can't drink on the run, so I had to stay near the front, take a break, and then catch up."

Sheeran began his preparation for the race three weeks in advance by increasing his daily distance running from eight or nine miles to an average of 15 miles.

"It was kind of a spur-of-the-moment decision to enter the race," Sheeran said. "I had only run in one other marathon and so the only preparation I did was run 120 miles each week for three weeks."

The marathon drew an outstanding class of runners. Among the field was 1972 Olympic gold medal winner Frank Shorter, who finished ninth.

Frank Richardson of Ames, Iowa won the marathon with a time of 2:14.4, some three minutes ahead of Sheeran.

Sheeran has the highest finish ever for an Eastern runner in a national championship with a second-place showing in 1977, and still has one year of eligibility left to participate in indoor and outdoor track.

Track coach Tom Woodall had nothing but praise for his long-distance runner, who holds Eastern's record in the 10,000-meter run.

"Joe is definitely strong in the long, long distance runs. He has had injury problems in the past. As a result, we'll use him sparingly in smaller competition. This will enable him to prepare for the bigger meets and be more successful."

Concerning Sheeran's recent accomplishment, Woodall said, "What Joe did is equivalent to a national championship in some sports. It takes years to develop that aerobic ability to finish third in that big of a race."

Center breaks arm

Eastern starting center Scott Gilleland has been sidelined for at least three weeks because of a broken arm he sustained in a traffic accident Tuesday night, offensive line coach Ray Ogas said.

The junior has started for the Panthers this season after being a back up to graduate Jack Lafferty the past two years.

Taking the two-year letterman's spot on the offensive line will be sophomore George Tuzil.

Tuzil has been used sparingly the past two seasons, but was a letterman on last year's club.

Eastern's Joe Sheeran, shown here running in a cross-country meet last season, finished third in America's Marathon-Chicago, which was held last Sunday. (News file photo)

Women netters take Indiana State, 6-3

by Betsey Guzior

Eastern women's tennis team defeated Indiana State 6-3, but not without a few complications.

Number two player Deb Belton pulled a muscle in her back while serving in singles against Angie Kline. Belton later retired, 1-0.

Belton, who will be out of the lineup for three weeks, will be missed.

"We'll be hurting a lot without Deb, especially in doubles," coach Karen Earley said. "We're going to really need her at State (in three weeks)."

The other complication occurred with No. 1 Jill Anderson, who took a tough loss to Nancy Csipkay of Indiana State, 0-6, 1-6.

"I played horrible," Anderson said. "In practice I'm fine, but when I get in a match I just tense up, I can't play aggressively with the ball."

Earley agreed. "It was not a good day for Jill. I think she knows that," Earley said. "She was very tight in her shots. I hope that can be ironed out by tomorrow."

Anderson will be playing singles at Millikin Friday and Saturday, in an individual tournament.

"Jill should have a pretty good draw, because she came in third last year," Earley said.

Because of the Belton injury, the doubles teams moved up, letting transfer Rae Ann Huhn and Julie Krueger play No. 3 doubles. They won their two-setter 7-6, 6-1.

"I'm glad Rae Ann and Julie got to play. This will be good experience for Millikin," Earley said.

Patty Groth and Josie Riberto moved up to No. 1 doubles, and they defeated Kline and Laurie Glass, 6-4, 6-2.

In the singles competition, No. 3 Groth bombed ISU's Carmie Mosson 6-1, 6-1, while Kristen Peterson also won against Georgia Parko, 6-0, 6-2.

Riberto won in two 6-4, 6-4 over Kelly Gasaway, and Janet Haberkorn defeated Julie Peterson of Indiana State, 6-2, 6-3.

Haberkorn and Peterson, who moved up to No. 2, lost their match

Eastern netter Josie Riberto returns a forehand shot in her 6-4, 6-4 singles victory over Indiana State University Thursday afternoon at the Weller courts. The Panther netters also defeated ISU 6-3. (News photo by Chuck Diewald) against Csipkay and Peterson of Indiana State 6-7, 4-6.

The Millikin tournament, in its sixty-fifth year, is an individual tourney, without team scores. Groth and Riberto, and the team of Haberkorn and Peterson will be playing doubles, along with Huhn and Krueger.

Harriers travel to Notre Dame

by Dan Brannan

Eastern's mens' cross-country team will face some tough competition from several top NCAA Division I schools Friday when it travels to South Bend, Ind. for the Notre Dame Invitational meet.

Division I schools such as Auburn, Michigan and Florida will be competing in the meet, Eastern coach Tom Woodall said.

Auburn is currently ranked third in the Division I ratings, while Michigan is seventh and Florida No. 10.

Other quality Division I teams competing in the meet are Notre Dame, Drake and Western Michigan.

A top Division III team which will compete is North Central College, Woodall said.

North Central won the NCAA Division III cross-country championship last year.

The meet will be divided into a blue division consisting of last year's top 20 teams and a gold division.

Eastern finished eighth in the meet last year, so it will be competing in the blue division.

Eastern won the Notre Dame Invitational in 1977, which was the same year it won the NCAA Division II cross-country title.

Booters face tough match at Governor's Cup tourney

by Holly Headland

Eastern's soccer Panthers will face what Coach Schellas Hyndman termed their most important game of the season when they play Western Illinois University in the Governor's Cup tournament this weekend.

The contest will get underway at 5 p.m. Friday at Northern Illinois University.

"We're playing Western and they want a bid to nationals. If they beat us they'll get a bid and knock us out as far as a post season bid goes. We have to play good soccer all around," Hyndman said. "It will be as close as the Sangamon State game was."

The Panthers defeated Sangamon State Tuesday 3-0.

Eastern did not play Western in the Governor's Cup last year, but it did face the Leathernecks in regular season competition.

"When we played them last year it was very close. We played really well and we need that again. Their record is 4-0 now, and they really want to win," Hyndman said.

Eastern finished second in the Governor's Cup last year behind Southern. The Panthers lost to the Salukis in the championship contest 1-0 in a very close game, Hyndman said.

Western's All-American striker Tony Christie and midfielder Noel Smith may give the Panthers some problems during the game, which has been chosen as the Midwest College Game of the Week.

Both players are from Jamaica,

Hyndman said.

Western is rated third in NCAA Division II competition behind the second-place University of Missouri-St. Louis and top-ranked Eastern.

The other pairing in the four-team tournament pits Northern Illinois University against Southern Illinois University at 7 p.m. Friday. The consolation and championship games will be played Saturday.

All of the teams in the tourney have relatively the same style of play, Hyndman said.

"They'll all be marking Damien close so we'll need more threat and power from the others like Prempeh and Corazza to get in and score. I'm concerned about the midfield, but if they concentrate they'll do well," Hyndman said.

"The University of Missouri-St. Louis beat Southern and we were hoping that wouldn't happen. It leaves Southern vulnerable. They could be hungry or disgusted. Who ever wins the Eastern-Western game could beat Southern," Hyndman said.

Southern Illinois, which is rated No. 2 in the Midwest NCAA Division I ratings, is also rated 13th nationally. The Salukis are forecast to come out ahead of Northern, which is rated sixth in the Midwest Division I ratings, Hyndman said.

SIU was the Division I national champions last year, Hyndman said.

Northern will be going into the tournament with an advantage over the Panther field hockey team edged by Western 2-1

by Steve Binder

In a "very aggressive and physical" battle, Western Illinois University dumped Eastern's field hockey team 2-1 Thursday at Macomb.

Eastern coach Betty Temple predicted in a pre-game interview that the Eastern-Western contest would be a very physical game, and she received just what she expected.

"It was a very rough and physical game with a lot of pushing and shoving," Temple said after the game.

The Leathernecks scored first at the 31-minute mark of the first half off a penalty corner by high-scoring senior forward Cheryl Novac.

"Novac is Western's leading scorer and very aggressive. She is always a scoring threat," Temple said.

After a shaky first half, Eastern came out and tied the score at the two-minute mark of the second half on forward Donna Macios' goal.

Temple gave credit to right link Colleen Fletcher who earned an assist on Macios' goal.

"We had a free hit outside the circle and Colleen very quickly hit the ball to Donna. It was smart thinking on her part because Western still had one of their defensive players down on the ground," Temple said.

Western link Kathy Friedman then scored the winning goal with 19 minutes remaining in the game, knocking the ball past Eastern goalie Becky Legrande.

As in past games, Temple said her squad failed to play aggressively in the first part of the game.

"We were slow moving in the first half. We were standing still and they (Western) beat us to the ball and we failed to cut off their passes," Temple said.

Temple witnessed a complete turnaround in her squad in the second half.

"We didn't hold back and made up our minds to go out and play aggressively and it showed by the way we took control and moved the ball," Temple said.

Last year Western beat Eastern by the same score, 2-1, as Novac tallied both of the Leathernecks goals.

other three teams because it plays on Astroturf and none of the other teams do, Hyndman said.

Eastern's squad left for Northern Thursday afternoon, hoping to get in a practice on the Astroturf before its crucial game on Friday.

"Northern is the only team with an advantage. We want to get used to it (The Astroturf). I hope no silly mistakes we make on it will cost us the game," Hyndman said.

The Governor's Cup tourney was started in 1972 and was given its name because the governor kicked off the first game of the tournament. All the state schools always participate and it is always held on the first weekend of October.

Eastern will be the host of the tournament next year, as its location rotates yearly. The teams that did not play each other the previous year are always paired in the first round.

Eastern's 5-1 booters will take goalies Eric Hartman and Mike Howard to Northern along with forwards Gordie Weidle, Gordon Prempeh, Silvano Corazza and George Hough.

Midfielders Vicente DiBella and John Jozsa will also make the trip along with defensive players Jerry McAnulty, Sandro Addessi, Pat Bruni and striker Damien Kelly.

Eastern's Fernando Beer and Randy DeRousse have foot injuries and Beer will not be going to Northern, Hyndman said.

Despite having two injured players, Hyndman said, "I think our team is solid. We are about 90 percent to 100 percent in maximum fitness level."

Eastern games claim some fame

by Andy Savoie

When Eastern squares off with Illinois State University Saturday in the Panthers' 64th Homecoming football game, it will mark the 19th time the two squads have met for an Eastern homecoming.

The Panthers have won six of these contests, the first of which was a 13-7 Eastern victory in the two teams' first homecoming encounter in 1917.

Eastern's most lopsided homecoming win over ISU was a 42-7 victory in 1978. Poke Cobb scored two touchdowns in that contest, threw for a third and went over the 1000-yard rushing mark for the season with 151 yards in 25 carries.

Eastern's worst homecoming loss to ISU was a 38-11 thrashing in 1972.

Five scoreless ties occurred in the homecoming series in 1922, 1937, 1939, 1945 and 1966.

Daily Eastern News records inform us that "a monster crowd witnessed the (1922) game," and that "the crowd was disappointed as Greathouse did not attempt his famous drop-kick from the 25-yard line with one minute remaining."

Other notable Eastern-ISU homecoming games include the Panthers' 19-0 victory in 1928.

Blocking for the Eastern offense that day was 200-pound guard Burl Ives, later to become a famous stage and screen star.

Eastern's 1928 Warbler writes: "Ives, a blonde freshman, because of 200 pounds of beef and bull-dog-good-naturedness, filled the other guard spot admirably. In case of a fumble, Ives was sure to pounce on the pigskin."

"The 'educated toe' of Andy Taylor" was responsible for Eastern's 3-0 victory over Illinois State on homecoming, 1924, and in 1974 the previously downtrodden Panthers edged ISU 14-9 for their second victory in a row.

A banner headline on the sports page of the Oct. 24 Eastern News informed students that "It's no fluke; Panthers are for real."

Eastern completed its 1974 season with a 3-6-1 record.

But perhaps the most curious incident to come out of the Eastern-ISU homecoming series came in a year when the two teams did not meet—1926.

It seems Illinois State, (then called Normal) was scheduled to play the Panthers on homecoming of that year, but was also slated to play Western Illinois University the same day.

Eastern State News records tell us "St. Louis University freshmen were scheduled and the day was saved. However, the freshmen defeated Eastern 19-0."

This loss to St. Louis was just one of 32 homecoming losses the Panthers have suffered against 24 wins and seven ties.

Eastern's first homecoming win in 1915 was its most one-sided victory in history—52-6 over Shurtleff (Shurtleff?).

Its first homecoming loss was a 32-0 thumping administered by Millikin in 1919 (Millikin!).

Just a year earlier, there was no Eastern football team "due to the draft for World War I and the influenza epidemic," Eastern State News records said.

A similar situation occurred 25 years later, when "a lack of men on campus in 1943 canceled the football schedule," the Eastern State News said.

And in 1973, the homecoming game was almost canceled because some of Eastern's black players threatened a boycott to protest an incident involving the election of homecoming queen.

The players were upset because black queen candidate, Diane Williams, who finished first in the voting, was stripped of one third of her votes because of an alleged election violation. It was ultimately decided that there would be no homecoming queen in 1973.

Despite these difficulties, Eastern enjoyed moderate success in its early homecoming football games.

From 1915 to 1951, the Panthers won 17 homecoming games, lost 14 and tied four.

But Eastern's 22-7 loss to Southern Illinois University in 1952 began a streak in which the Panthers could capture only two of their next 18 homecoming contests.

The only victories during that period were a 33-13 triumph over Indiana State University in 1955 and a 12-7 win over Western in 1967.

Last year, Eastern defeated Northern Michigan 39-21 for its 24th homecoming victory.

Panther defenders fight for possession of the football against Illinois State opponents during the biggest loss to Illinois State in 1972. Eastern collected a 38-11 setback in that matchup. (1972 Warbler photo)

Two-hundred pound freshman Burl Ives, second row, third person from the left, was Eastern's stalwart guard in the 1928 Homecoming contest against

'Candida' headlines Homecoming weekend

by Laura Ziebell

George Bernard Shaw said once that his play "Candida" made him many women friends.

This is not due to the song Tony Orlando wrote some 20 years after Shaw's death in 1950, but because of the warmth, strength and wisdom that is shown through Shaw's character, Candida Morrel.

"Women identified with Candida back in 1894 when Shaw wrote it, but even today, the situations can be applied to our society," senior Kathy Lampen said. Lampen portrays Candida in the Eastern production that will be presented 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 2 p.m. Sunday in the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

Candida, the wife of an English pastor, finds herself having to choose between her husband and a young poet, who is in love with her.

Lampen, who has performed in a long list of Eastern, Charleston Community Theater and 5 o'clock theater productions, said one of the things she likes about portraying Candida is showing how women are capable of bringing out the best qualities in men.

"The play is a drama with touches of comedy in it, and that alone is a challenge to me," Lampen said. "To be able to stir the audience's emotion, whether to laugh or cry, is one of the reasons I enjoy being in theater. It's difficult to do, but when you succeed, it's worth it."

Freshman Jeff Bennett is a newcomer to Eastern's stage. In fact, he only went to tryouts to give encouragement to a friend.

What he walked away with was the part of Eugene Marchbanks, the young poet, and a chance to learn more about himself.

"Being a freshman in a new college with unfamiliar faces and buildings, I was glad to have something to hold onto," Bennett said.

"I haven't declared my major yet, so doing things like 'Candida' and working as a DJ at WELH gives me a great opportunity to try out those academic areas and meet people at the same time," Bennett said.

Bennett said his character is one that college age students can identify with.

"Marchbanks, through his thoughts and actions, shakes up a grown-up world. He is only 18, but he makes these 40-year olds really think about the way they are leading their lives," Bennett said.

"I think every college kid would like to make some adult see things differently, and Marchbanks does that," he added.

Bennett was involved in high school dramatics at Glenbard North, a suburb of Chicago, and sees his theater experience at Eastern as an exciting one.

"It may be something I may never do again, but being involved in different things like this makes you find out who you are," Bennett said.

E.B. Gabbard, of the theater department, is directing the play with C.P. Blanchette designing the set and Nancy Paule in charge of costumes.

"Shaw's use of language is so well done, we tried not to change a word of it," Gabbard said, "although the dialogue for our production is strictly American rather than British."

Costumes for Candida are from the end-of-the-century style, with the corseted waists and ballooned sleeves for the women, Gabbard said.

The play takes place during the course of one day so the living room of the Morrel home is the only set, Gabbard said.

"One of the most interesting things about the set is the roll top desk and chair. It was used by Eastern's first president, Livingston C. Lord," Gabbard added.

Answers to Eastern trivia cover years of history

1. "Napoleon," the campus mascot during the 1950s, was a dog who wandered around the campus and attended many Homecoming games. He died at the age of 15 in 1959, and is now buried under the bench, north of the ginkgo trees, in the north quad.
2. The idea of Homecoming originated with the University of Illinois in 1912, and Eastern joined in with the tradition.
3. Social security numbers were first implemented in 1966, replacing the former numbers used for identification.
4. "The Final Days," written by Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein (of "All the President's Men" fame), mentions that then-vice president Gerald Ford spoke to a group of students at Eastern Illinois University in 1973.
5. Phi Sigma Epsilon, the oldest fraternity on campus, was established nationally in 1930.
6. Lake Ahmoweenah is the formal name of the campus pond, located south of the Lantz building.
7. Elsie Sloan—the first woman editor of the Eastern News in 1923—wrote gossip columns for the paper.
8. In addition to the Lantz gym, Buzzard and McAfee, Pemberton Hall used to have a gymnasium for the women and later the gymnastics team.
9. In 1973, President Gilbert Fite declared that because of charges of discrimination, the homecoming election results would be void. The charges surrounded the fate of one black candidate, Diane Williams, who allegedly violated campaign regulations.
10. The university announced on Jan. 17, 1977, that the campus would be closed due to a natural gas shortage by the next day.
11. 1961 was the last winning season of the Panthers, before they came back to win a national championship in 1978.
12. Harry Read, left, now director of information and publications, and Robert Sterling of the history department, right, shared the responsibilities of putting out the Eastern News in 1950.
